

SAFETY AWARDS CELEBRATION

On April 11th, the Three Rivers Manufacturers' Association (TRMA) held its Annual Awards Dinner, with TRMA Chair Ted Raymond of Aux Sable Liquid Products and Jim Cristman of Citgo Petroleum Lemont Refinery leading the festivities.

The highlight of the evening was the recognition of safety achievements. Contractor companies, entrusted with operations within TRMA manufacturing plants, were commended for their outstanding safety practices. Despite the challenges encountered, 40 contractor firms received honors for their exemplary safety performance throughout 2023.

Stepan Company receives Partnership Award

The highest honor, the Platinum Award, was bestowed upon Brieser Construction and Manhattan Mechanical Services.

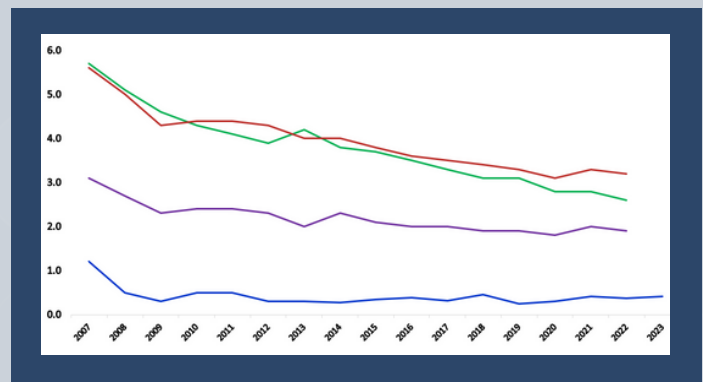

The commitment to safety exhibited by TRMA's manufacturing members resonates in both their employees and contracted workforce. TRMA's dedication to cultivating a safety-centric culture is underscored by collaborative efforts with its members to deliver comprehensive safety training.

Ted Raymond congratulates Dan Golaszewski, Meade receiving Chairperson Award

Remarkably, many of the awardees maintained a flawless safety record, operating throughout the entire year without a single OSHA incident—a significant accomplishment epitomizing the sought-after goal of Zero Incidents. Impressively, these contractors collectively logged several million hours of work in 2023 at TRMA member facilities, boasting an OSHA incidence rate of just 0.4.

Among the individual safety awards, Dan Golaszewski was celebrated with the "Chairperson's Award for Distinguished Safety Performance," while Joseph Brynda received recognition with the "Next Generation Safety Stand Out" award.

Congratulations are extended to all recipients of TRMA's prestigious safety awards, illustrating a unified commitment to excellence in workplace safety.
